PLANNING AND RESEARCH

PROFESSOR DR RINA R WEHBE

Websites I used to help me develop and imagine my websites layout.

IDEAS I WILL USE TO DESIGN MY WEBPAGE

- For my webpage, I will be making it as a career page so that I can link it to my resume. So that prospective employers can see it. The website will be divided into 3 pages. 1st page will consist of an Introduction about myself, The 2nd page will consist of my Previous and current Work experience and the last page will contain my contact details and also some videos on my favourite interests such as VR racing and Game development.

- I will be adding at least 2 images on every link with the first page consisting of images of me and the university I study in.

- It will also consist of links to some YouTube sources that I have used to study coding. I will divide my website into 3 basic sections such as header, body, and footer.

- I have will use the div tags to separate and format my website to avoid overlapping of images.

- When using the img and anchor tags I will make sure to describe the elements in the alt image section.

- I will also link and display some Youtube, some stock and some audio-related files in my website.

My 1st inspiration – {https://kristihines.com/}

I have taken inspiration from this website for mu index.html file that is my homepage.
The following website helped me imagine how can I structure my website and use my personal photo on the homepage.

The website also helped me understand how can I use the  and <align> tages to make sure my image is proportionally aligned with my introduction and videos tag elements

My 2nd inspiration – {https://www.amandarachlee.com/}

I have used the following website to design my footer element and also to add the social page icons to make my footer section look
More aesthetic. The way the overall website is presented help me use the main, body and footer tag to properly divide all elements.

In my final page I also used this website's structure to attach my youtube video.

The home and contact element in my website is also inspired by this webage's footer section

NATHANIEL'S BIO

About Nathaniel Koloc.

Nathaniel Koloc is an entrepreneur, a people executive, a seasoned recruiter, and an avid outdoorsman. He is the Managing Director for Pardon, a modern family office.

Before founding Formidable, Nathaniel chaired his wife's insurgent campaign for New York State Senate, was founding SVP People at Future Laboratories, built & sold ReWork, a purpose-centric recruiting firm, and served as Director of Talent Acquisition & Development for Hillary Clinton's 2016 campaign. The common thread through all of his experiences has been combining insightful strategy, high-output operating principles, and effective tools to create powerful talent engines. Nathaniel's roots are in ecology, economics, and resilience.

He holds a B.A. in Global Human Impact Studies from the University of Vermont and an M.S. in Strategic Leadership towards Sustainability from Blekinge Tekniska Högskola in Sweden.

For my 3ʳᵈ page about my interests and contact info I have used the following page to center my elements also the tables used in the following webpage gave me the idea of including my videos and all my audio files in 2X2 Table. The following helped me a lot in structuring my page very well.

The webpage also helped me create my nav element the difference being I have used an ordered list of my webpage for my Navigation elements and the picture positioning in this webpage is also helping me position the pictures about my university in a structured order.

CONCLUSION

THANK YOU SO MUCH
